LABOR BOARD FEARS UNION TEST OF LAW

Plan To Apply Taft-Hartley Act to Pending Cases May Hit Snag.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—Officials of the national labor relations board voiced frank but private apprehension today over what a union challenge might do to their plans for applying new Taft-Hartley act policy to 3,500 old NLRB cases.

A CIO official disclosed anonymously some CIO unions are considering asking the courts to rule on the legality of this procedure because:

▶The Taft-Hartley law went into full effect only last Friday and

▶The cases involve conditions which existed under the Wagner national labor relations act.

Counsel Sees Modification

NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham has expressed the opinion old cases can be examined in the light of the Taft-Hartley act and modified if necessary.

Some NLRB officials, however, acknowledged that if a number of unions raised a challenge to this procedure in the form of court suits the result might be to "hamstring" the board pending a final judicial determination.

Denham has had nothing to say on this point.

In holding that old cases can be reviewed in the light of the new act, the general counsel said he believes a good example is provided by a proceeding involving the Geraldine Novelty Co., Inc., of Gloversville, N. Y., and the CIO-Fur and Leather Workers.

Last Thursday the board ruled that eight members of that union who had been fired should be reinstated, and that the company should cease discriminating against the union.

Sides With Workers

Denham told newsmen he thinks, unofficially, that the workers should get their jobs back, because they were entitled to them under the Wagner act as it existed when the offenses complained of took place.

On the other hand, the union currently has no standing before the board because it has not submitted—and probably will not—affidavits declaring its officers are not Communist. The union's president, Ben Gold, is an avowed Communist.

Therefore, Denham reasons, the company could not be required to cease discriminating against the union.

Denham also indicated to newsmen that he thinks the AFL-International Typographical Union was sticking its neck out by refusing to sign any new contracts. The union, at its convention in Cleveland last week, voted to rely on memoranda stating "conditions of employment" which they would bargain out with employers in lieu of signed contracts.

SCHOOL OPENING PLANS REPORTED

Supt. Holt Announces Schedule for First Day.

Marion schools will open on Sept. 8 for the new school term, E. E. Holt, superintendent of city schools, announced today.

Students will not report for classes until 1:15 p. m. on the first day. In previous years students reported for morning classes on the opening day. This year a general teachers' meeting will be held at Harding High school at 9 a. m.

Following the general meeting of all teachers, there will be meetings of each building's staff.

Classes will open at 9 a. m. after Sept. 8.

Workbooks this year will be purchased at the schools instead of at dealers. Other supplies may be obtained through dealers. The supply list will be printed within a short time.

Pupils who are recent arrivals in Marion and who will be in the seventh, eighth or ninth grade this year are requested to register with the superintendent of the building to which the pupil will attend as soon as possible. This is to apply only to pupils new to the Marion school system.

First grade pupils will have classes during the morning only for the first week of school.

Father's Quick Action Saves Cleveland Boy

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26 — One-year-old James Di Paoli Jr., was on the way to full recovery from electric shock today after quick action by his father kept breath in his body.

The boy's mother found him clutching a frayed lamp cord, his face blue. The father began breathing into his son's mouth while the mother called Mayfield Heights police.

As the police car made a fast run to Huron Road hospital, the father continued the breathing process. Dr. G. B. Nelson said oxygen and heart stimulants were administered, but credited the father's action with keeping the boy alive.

Second degree burns on the hands and one ear were the only injuries the boy sustained.

INDONESIANS ACCEPT DECISION OF COUNCIL

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 26—The security council called on the Dutch and Indonesians today for the second time to cease fire in the East Indies hostilities. The vote was 10 to 0 with Britain abstaining.

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 26—The Indonesian republic officially informed the United Nations today that it accepted security council decisions calling for consul reports from Batavia and an offer of the council's good offices in the East Indies dispute.

The Dutch had not officially replied.

The consuls would report on hostilities since the council's Aug. 1 call for cease-fire and the good offices would be used to bring the disputants together for further negotiations.

Asks for Instructions

Sutan Sjahrir, former premier representing the republic here, said he had asked his government in Jogjakarta, Java, for instructions regarding the Indonesian selection of one nation for the mediation group.

The Indonesian announcement came as the council went back into session in the wake of a surprise French veto which killed a Russian proposal for a 11-nation commission to investigate violations of the UN's Aug. 1 cease-fire order.

First up this morning was a Belgian proposal for the international court of justice to rule on the council's right to act in the Indonesian case. After it was a Polish resolution calling upon the Dutch and Indonesians to comply with the cease-fire edict.

Prize Pig from Bucyrus Passes Hot Wave Crisis

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26—Porky has passed the crisis.

The 1,000-pound porker, known officially as Marcus Charmer, will recover from his heat prostration and will be able to compete in judging at the Ohio state fair Thursday, swine experts now believe.

The rotund-hog frolicked happily today — as much as a gent of his size can frolic — and owner Walter Michael of Bucyrus looked forward to seeing porky win grand champion honors as he did last year as a one-year-old.

Ice and wet sand turned the trick, with the sodden sand substituting when ice became unavailable. With temperatures much cooler today at the fairgrounds, there appeared little likelihood of more trouble with the heat.

Swift Completion of Defense Treaty Expected as Agreements Reported.

By The Associated Press

QUITANDINHA, BRAZIL, Aug. 26 — Inter-American conference delegates were in virtual agreement today on all controversial questions, promising swift completion of an historic treaty for mutual defense of the Western Hemisphere.

Formal agreement by a five-nation subcommittee on measures to be taken against aggression and Argentina's acceptance of the two-thirds majority rule in invoking those measures came in quick succession yesterday and reports immediately began circulating that the 20-nation conference would finish writing the treaty by the weekend.

Unconfirmed reports were current in conference circles that President Truman might advance the date of his visit here, now scheduled for Sept. 5.

Agree on Terms

A drafting subcommittee—composed of delegates from the United States, Brazil, Mexico, Peru and Bolivia—concluded four days of work last night in full agreement on 12 main clauses on aggression, which one delegate called "the very heart of the treaty."

The draft included:

▶The branding of aggression as such "wherever it occurs."

▶Collective measures to be taken against aggression.

▶Establishment of a hemisphere security zone which would call for common defense measures against attack from the Arctic to the Antarctic. Canada, later, is to be invited to participate in hemisphere defense.

Compromise Formula

Controversial question of whether distinction should be drawn between aggression from without and from within was settled by the following compromise formula:

▶Collective armed action may be taken immediately against an

Bus Company Granted Permit To Raise Fares

The Marion Rapid Transit company last night was granted permission by city council to raise cash bus fares from seven to ten cents, the new rate to be effective as soon as the company is equipped to place the revised fare system in operation.

It was estimated by Sheldon N. Dodds, company secretary-treasurer, who appeared before council, that it would be from six to eight weeks before the increase will go into effect.

The Rapid Transit company is adopting a token system and Mr. Dodds told council members that a length of time would be necessary to secure a sufficient number of tokens from manufacturers.

The ordinance was passed unanimously and stipulates the following fare rates to be charged: adult cash fare, 10 cents or seven tokens for 50 cents; transfer privilege to be good for up to 30 minutes from time of issue.

Children from the age of six to 12 years will be charged five cents, no increase from the present rate.

Increased costs of operation were given by the company as the reason for seeking the upward revision of fares.

Mr. Dodds told council the company has 20 buses at present, 14 of which are on the streets during the rush hours. In the last six weeks the company purchased two 20-passenger and four 29-passenger buses.

Diesels Too Big

Council also heard that the four 36-passenger diesel buses purchased by the company in 1944 have proved "too big" for Marion. It was said by Mr. Dodds that the buses made only about three miles to the gallon of fuel and unless they were fully loaded it didn't pay to operate them.

One of the big buses has already been sold and the company plans to dispose of the other three when conditions permit. Mr. Dodds pointed out that the four 29-passenger Ford buses recently acquired are wider and provide more "standee" room than the diesels.

Explaining the decision of the company to seek approval for the change back to the token system which was dropped shortly before the war, Mr. Dodds said that under the straight fare system in effect now, too much time was consumed in making change. It was pointed out that at rush hours passengers were delayed in getting on buses while change was being made, thus holding up schedules and inconveniencing passengers. The company feels that the token system will speed up operation.

The present seven-cent straight rate has been in effect since 1944. Prior to that time for several years the company operated under a straight five-cent rate, during

School Workshop Program Launched for Teachers Here

By ELAINE BALLINGER

First session of a week-long school conference and workshop program for teachers of Marion and Marion county, was held in First Presbyterian church last night. A symposium on "What Can Be Done To Develop Desirable Citizenship and Personality," was presented by a group of outstanding Ohio educators.

The program was set up by D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools, as the second annual workshop for school personnel here and will include another general session tonight at the church, followed on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by morning and afternoon sessions of the workshop groups at Hotel Harding. These groups will be under direction of specialists in the various fields which will be considered. The meeting last night was preceded by a dinner meeting of the discussion and workshop leaders at the hotel.

Following general welcome of the nearly 200 teachers and parents present, and welcome of the workers, introduction was made of the latter group individually. Welcome was given by Melvin Bernow of the Pleasant Township school faculty.

Symposium Chairman

Chairman for the symposium was Dr. Hershel Nisonger of Columbus, director of special and adult education for Ohio State university. Other members of the group included Dr. Dwight Arnold, Kent State university; Dr. Charles Curran, St. Charles college, Columbus; Dr. Maurice Newburger, bureau of juvenile research, Columbus; and Mrs. Verna Walters, state department of education elementary supervisor, who gave summary of the symposium and question and discussion period which followed.

Leading off with a general estimate of the problem of training children for citizenship and developing desirable personality, Dr. Nisonger expressed the opinion that training for citizenship is the educator's "Number One" job. He brought out the fact of the broadening of the concept to include not only community, state and national citizenship, but world

She is continuing to show rapid improvement, the physician said. She now is on nearly a normal diet with three meals a day.

The physician said the child lost no more than five to seven pounds in the 80 hours she spent without food or water. Her temperature is normal.

Rev. S. C. Long, chairman of a Waldo community committee, formed to raise a reward fund was to confer with Prosecuting Attorney James E. Reed today regarding return of the $3,000 in cash contributed before the finding of Carolyn Saturday night ended the solicitation. The money is to be returned to contributors.

FEED MILL STILL IDLED BY STRIKE

Production Stops as 80 Men Leave Jobs.

Production at the McMillen Feed company here remains at a standstill today in the labor management contract dispute which idled more than 80 production workers last Thursday.

Employes associated with the UAW-CIO walked off their jobs Thursday morning. Edward Duck, UAW organizer reported the company had allegedly discharged an employe as "unfit for work" when the worker became ill on the job. The union employes headed by Joseph Stafford, president of the McMillen union, left their jobs in protest to the company action.

Also said by the union to be an issue in the controversy is the question of the legality of the contract between the union and the McMillen company.

William Charle, plant manager, has issued no statement in the matter other than saying that the company had made provision to reinstate the discharged employe, and that the plant is still open.

The office force and department foremen are still reporting for work daily despite the fact that production of soya products has been curtailed by the walkout.

The McMillen company is a subsidiary of the Central Soya company of Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Ford Increases Price Of Mercurys, Lincolns

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 26—The Ford Motor Co., which last Sunday announced price increases on its Ford passenger car and truck models, today raised list prices on its Mercury and Lincoln models and its so-called Ford luxury models.

Increases on the Mercury line range from $86 to $226; on the Lincoln from $148 to $200 and on the Ford "luxury" models from $199 to $229.

A statement accompanying the newest increases said they were necessitated by increased manufacturing and materials costs.

Army To Stop Paying Passage of GI Brides

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—The Army told war brides overseas today that in the future they must pay their own expenses journeying to the United States to join their husbands.

Only those brides who already have signified their intention of doing so may be brought to this country through Army facilities, a war department announcement said.

The Army said the program to transport about 1,260 war brides and children remaining in Great Britain is moving slowly.

QUICK TEMPERATURE DROP BRINGS STORM

Mercury Falls Here; Mansfield and Toledo Hit.

A sudden change of atmosphere brought a sudden drop in temperature in Marion yesterday and caused serious storms in other sections of Ohio.

Lightning knocked out the Mansfield Power substation yesterday and left 3,500 downtown users without power. In Toledo one person was killed when lightning struck a bridge there.

Rains which swept the midwest helped stop some of the corn crop deterioration but more rain is needed if the crop is to be saved.

In Marion the temperature tumbled from a high of 89 degrees yesterday to a low of 68. At noon today the thermometer stood at 73 degrees. Readings a year ago have a high of 76 degrees and a low of 49.

Rains Aid Corn Crop But Farmers Hope for More

By The Associated Press

Farmers in the nation's main corn belt hoped for more rain within the next week as precipitation brought some measure of relief in most sections as cool air moved into the midwest and broke summer's longest heat wave.

Although the rains which swept across the corn belt checked at least temporarily a 15 million bushel a day loss which corn has suffered during the protracted hot spell, weather bureau officials said soaking rains were needed to retain yesterday's benefits. No general rainfall for the region was predicted immediately.

As rain fell from Indiana to Nebraska, corn futures prices on the Chicago board of trade plunged eight cents, the maximum permitted in one day's trading, while cash prices dropped several cents.

RACING FLIERS PREPARE SHIPS

Check Parachutes After One Balls Out When Failure Causes Crash.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26 — Race pilots double checked their parachutes today as they readied sleek planes for qualifying runs, mindful of a mishap that wiped out eager young Jimmy De Santo's hopes.

Only three planes were definitely scheduled to try for 12 places open to the fastest among 32 entrants in the Thompson trophy event, to item on the closed course schedule for the three-day National Air Races beginning Saturday.

De Santo, whose home is Atlanta, Ga., bailed out of his P-60 Curtiss experimental plane, the only one of its kind ever built, when a newly-repaired tail assembly failed while he was making a test hop yesterday afternoon. De Santo landed safely not far from the wreckage of the plane into which he said he had put his last dollar .

He's Done It Before

Neither parachuting nor hard luck were new to the former operator of a Parkersburg, W. Va., flying service.

A paratrooper during the war, he came to the races last year with a modified P-38 Lightning, but was discouraged from racing in the big event because of his limited experience in that type plane. He failed to place in the money in a secondary event.

Last year's qualifying trials also got off to a thrilling start when Robert A. Swanson of Cleveland crash-landed his P-51 in a field near the airport because of engine trouble. Swanson was unhurt and obtained another plane to fly in the Thompson.

Tony Le Vier of La Canada, Calif., chief engineering test pilot for Lockheed Aircraft, who placed second in the Thompson last year, was the first to qualify with a slick performance late yesterday.

BISHOP SAYS REDS WARRING ON CHURCH

By The United Press

TRIESTE, Aug. 26—Msgr. Antonio Santin, bishop of Trieste, charged today that Communists in Istria had opened "war" on church activity, resulting in the beheading of one priest, the reported mutilation murder of another and the beating of a third.

Santin said the outbursts of anti-clerical violence in Yugoslav-occupied Istria were links in a campaign against church influence in Yugoslavia.

A few hours after the decapitation of one priest was disclosed, Trieste newspapers reported the discovery in an Istrian wood of the mutilated body of Father Kristian, parish priest of Golazzo.

The priest disappeared last week, the press reported, speculating that he was kidnaped as he was returning from giving doctrinal instruction at Mune.

The victim of the beheading was Father Miro Buselich, Croat assistant director of the Pisino seminary. Santin said a Communist

SHERIFF HOPES FOR NEW CLUES

Will Go Before Commissioners To Ask Transfer of Fund in Peterson Case.

Sheriff LeRoy Retterer said today he would go before the county commissioners to request them to post a reward for the information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes.

Mrs. Gerbes, 25, divorced mother of three children, was killed July 11 and left trussed and strangled in the St. Paul's Lutheran churchyard on route 98, five miles east of Marion.

Although the matter has been $500 posted by the commissioners before, no action has been taken toward posting a reward in the slaying.

The sheriff said his new request will be based on the fact that $50 0posted by the commissioners as reward in the Carolyn Peterson case was not needed. Mr. Retterer will ask that this money be used as a reward in the Gerbes case.

Will Add $100 Personally

The sheriff added that if the commissioners act favorably on his recommendation he will put up an additional $100 as a personal contribution. He did the same in the Peterson case.

The sheriff said he hopes the reward will bring out new clues in the investigation, which has been at a dead end since the slayer drove his car away from the churchyard about 2:15 o'clock the morning of Friday, July 11.

A warrant has been issued here for the arrest of Edward Demoine Young, 39, who was last seen at his trailer home on Midlam avenue the afternoon before Mrs. Gerbes' body was found.

Many Early "Tips"

For a week or more after the slaying the sheriff's office was flooded with tips on the whereabouts of Young but none of them proved of value. Since then, however, calls with information on the case have dwindled despite the fact that more than 1,000 police departments and sheriff's offices in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania have been circularized with photos and descriptions of Young.

The most recent call was last Friday when police in Philadelphia, Pa., requested fingerprints and photos of Young. These were provided but the sheriff has heard no more from the Philadelphia police.

Here's the Origin Of at Least One Incorrect Rumor

Source of false rumors seldom is revealed. Like Topsy, they "just grow."

But one that swept the city yesterday regarding the finding of the body of Edward Demoine Young hanging from a tree in a woods has been traced down.

It originated with a "tale" told city police by a man arrested for intoxication.

Police reported the prisoner told them Young's body was hanging in a woods east of St. Paul's Lutheran church. It was at this church authorities found the body of Mrs. Zora Gerbes, the woman Young is accused of slaying.

Police and highway patrolmen, with the drunk in tow, made a quick run to the locality but found nothing.

Yesterday morning, after the prisoner sobered up, he could remember nothing about his story of the day before. In fact he couldn't think of any reason why such a story would come to his befuddled mind.

O.S.U. Trailerites Plan New Cooperative Camp

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26—Ohio State university students who have been living in trailers at state fairgrounds today eyed a proposal to set up a new camp under a cooperative ownership.

Robert W. Taft Jr. of Lawrence, Kan., chairman of a committee of trailer camp occupants and cousin of Sen. Robert A. Taft, estimated it would cost the students between $25,000 and $30,000 to buy six acres of land and install utilities.

Taft said the fairgrounds camp's 190 students would form a cooperative corporation to purchase a site and undertake construction work. Trailer owners would each buy a share at $10 and pay $18 a month rent.

The proposal will be discussed tomorrow night at a meeting on the OSU campus.

Success of U. S. in Combating Infant Mortality Is "Amazing"

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—A shooting war is more dramatic of course

But a battle has just been won in a fight that's important to every mother, father and baby in the U S. -

The census bureau has estimated the infant mortality rate for 1946, and—

"The results are amazing simply astounding," said Dr Edwin F. Daily, director of health services for the children's bureau.

"In 1935," Dr Daily said, as he fondled a statistic, "56 out of every 1 000 babies alive at birth died before they were a year old

"By 1945 that figure was cut to 38 out of 1,000

"And in 1946 we got it down to 34.5 in 1,000—a perfectly astonishing drop for one year."

An eminent English physician once said that the infant mortality rate indicates a country's degree of civilization

Dr Daily agrees But don't think you can get him to say, by this standard, whether the U S is more civilized, or uncivilized, than some other nation

"Too many factors are involved that don't show up in the figures," he said "Just say we've done a good job"

Daily says a number of things have contributed to the advancement

Among them smarter doctors, working with better techniques Better hospitals Better prenatal care Better informed mothers Better roads, making it easier to get baby to the doctor.

Still Another Reason

And to these he would add another, newly found reason.

"A Belgian doctor was in here the other day," he said, "and he told me

"'In your country, it's different. If a mother did things one way, her daughter figures that is proof enough that it probably is wrong Here, it is easy to bring about change'."

The next battleground in the war on infant mortality: the premature baby

Any baby weighing less than 5½ pounds at birth is considered premature. In some places in this country, half of all babies born prematurely die before they are a year old

Extra special care, "60 minutes out of every hour," probably will be the solution to the problem

Even more unusual than the infant figures, Dr. Daily thinks, is the work done with the new mamas

"In 1933," he said, "we had a shocking record, with 6.2 deaths among every 1,000 mothers

"In 1946 that was cut all the way down to 1.6 to 1,000

"We have had excellent results with certain drugs, such as penicillin with pneumonia But right off I can't think of any other spot where we have knocked two-thirds off the death rate within 13 years

"Phenomenal," concluded Daily

And that's about all I can tell you about babies, except to say that Daily has more than an academic interest in his subject

He's the father of two boys And another Daily is expected Daily

"Why railroad earnings are my business too!"

ANY BUSINESS must earn at least 6% to exist and grow as a self-supporting enterprise. Yet the American Railroads are earning but a fraction over 3% on their investment.

That is why they are asking for an opportunity to earn 6%—so that they may continue as an efficient, progressive part of the nation's business.

The things you and I use personally—the raw materials and parts for the products we make or sell—all probably traveled great distances—via railroad.

By supplying efficient, low-cost transportation for America's industries, the railroads have become an integral part of business—everyone's business.

Railroads must continually provide for maintenance, new equipment and improved facilities. But here are the railroad's current problems:

Costs of supplies and materials are up 60%
Freight rate increases average only 17%

NAVY PLANE SETS RECORD

Makes New Mark of 650.6 MPH, Shattering Week-Old Triumph.

By The Associated Press

MUROC, Calif., Aug. 26—The Navy was double sure today it has the fastest aircraft in the world—a snarling, snorting and whining plane that spun itself a 650.6 mile-an-hour new international speed record in four passes over a measured three-kilometer course on this Mojave desert waste yesterday.

The Douglas jet-propelled Skystreak, with a long tubular fuselage and just enough wings to keep it in the air, set the new mark with a tall Marine pilot, Maj. Marion E. Carl, 31, at the controls in a tiny cockpit which didn't look large enough for a man half his size.

In so doing, the Skystreak broke the world speed record registered only last Wednesday.

Praises Airplane

"There's a ship," said Major Carl, a Pacific combat veteran with 18 Japanese planes to his credit. "I don't know if we set a record or not, but men, there's a plane. This was several hours before the speed had been computed officially.

Major Carl, resident of Hubbard, Ore., and Patuxent River, Md., smashed the record set last Wednesday by a Navy flier, Comdr. Turner F. Caldwell Jr., of Arlington, Va., in the Skystreak here.

In accordance with regulations of the International Aeronautical Federation, the Skystreak made four runs over the three kilometer (1.863 miles) course. The times of the four runs in miles per hour were 652.642, 649.358, 652.579 and 648.730.

One Run Faster

At that, Caldwell last week made one run faster than Maj. Carl's best mark yesterday. The commander's average was 640.7 mph., but he was clocked on one pass at 653.4.

On each run the major dived out of the skies, leveled off just before entering the measured course and streaked past the press observation post between 50 to 75 feet off the ground. You could see him coming but if you weren't quick in jerking your head around he'd be out of sight before you realized he had passed.

An uncanny part of the whole thing was that this craft would flash past without apparent audible sound. The noise was trailing it by several hundred yards and the ship would be almost out of sight before you heard the bellowing, roaring crescendo of its mighty General Electric, Allison-built, TG-180, turbo-jet engines.

NAME FACULTY AT RICHWOOD

One Teacher Needed at High School, Board of Education Reports.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, Aug. 26 — With the beginning of school Sept 2, the Board of Education announces that the faculty has been completed with the exception of a home economics teacher, to replace Miss Ellen Neds. Newcomers to the faculty are Mrs. Ruth Cox, of Prospect, who will teach one section of the first grade, and Mrs. Floss Lake who will teach a section of the sixth grade. These are the new members of the elementary school faculty.

Faculty Members

In the high school Robert Peoples replaces A. W. Cochran as agriculture instructor. For the first time in six years the agriculture department will be on a full-time basis. Mrs. Lucille Powers will teach commercial subjects this year, taking the place of Mrs. Martha Parrott who has so ably helped out during the critical shortage of commercial teachers. Richard Sowers of Westerville is taking the place of Mrs. Alta Stearns who resigned because of ill health. Mrs. Marion Cochran has been employed to teach English on a half-time basis in the high school and will also assist two afternoons a week in elementary music. This completes the roll of newcomers to the faculty.

The other members of the faculty are: Miss Anna Jones, first grade. Mrs. Bernice Derr and Mrs. Thelma Obee, second grade; Mrs. Ruth Brelsford and Mrs. Ruth Weller, third grade; Mrs. Evelyn Grindell and Miss Rose Ellen Hosler, fourth grade; Miss Lucile Smith and Mrs. Nora Herr, fifth grade; Miss Lois Lowe, Elementary Principal and sixth grade; Mrs. Mildred Carroll, seventh grade and Ralph Vestal, eighth grade.

In the high school the returning members of the faculty include Miss Pauline Prichard, language and history; Dean Cochran, English and civics; Marion Fogt, music; R. D. Fetter, High School Principal and coach and H. R. Fisher, Superintendent. Miss Eletha Rogers will return as instructor in religious education in the elementary school. This work is entirely financed by the Union County Council of Churches.

Ag-Program

Perry Allen will continue as instructor of the Veteran's Agriculture Training class, which is financed by the Veteran's Administration. Various changes and additions have been made in the offerings of the high school. Vocational agriculture is now on a full-time basis, a remedial class in English for those who have trouble with the subject has been instituted, and chemistry and physics will both be taught each year instead of on alternate years, as in the past. Instrumental music in grades above the third will be emphasized more. Preliminary negotiations have been opened looking to the establishment of a class in auto driving, however, no definite arrangements have been made for this class yet.

As in the past, textbooks will be furnished by the Board of Education, but workbooks will be purchased by the students.

Registration for classes will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. Buses will make their regular trips on Tuesday, morning at the regular time—school calling at 8:55 and will return the students home at about 11 o'clock. The regular school schedule will start on Wednesday, Sept. 3.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Childhood Disease

When death arms his scythe with rheumatic fever, it cuts a wide swath, for this disease leads all others as a killer of children and young people. Alone, it causes five times as many deaths in this age group yearly as scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough and infantile paralysis do together.

Nor does it stop with children. It may occur at any age and veritable epidemics have been reported among young adults. During the war, for instance, more than 40,000 service men contracted the disease.

The aftermath of rheumatic fever is rheumatic heart disease and its importance here is shown by the fact that it is the leading cause of heart disease in persons between five and forty years of age.

As a general rule, rheumatic fever starts suddenly with fever, pain in the joints and swelling of the joints. Usually, it starts from two to four weeks after a respiratory infection, such as a cold or sore throat.

In some instances, the disorder comes on more gradually, and the symptoms may be quite mild with pains in the joints which are often called, though mistakenly, "growing pains," for there are no such things as "growing pains."

Studies have been carried out which seem to show that the heart is affected to some degree in almost every case, and even after the infection clears up, permanent damage to the heart may be present.

The exact cause of rheumatic fever is not known. However, it would appear that before the condition develops, there is an infection with hemolytic streptococci germs. Epidemics of streptococci infections in the army were followed by epidemics of rheumatic fever.

It was also found that rheumatic fever occurred in some areas from ten to one hundred times more often than in other areas. The regions of the country affected particularly are the Rocky Mountain area, the Mid-West, the territory around the Great Lakes, and New England. The disorder apparently occurs less frequently in warm climates. Poor housing, crowding, lack of warmth and ventilation are evidently contributory factors.

Unfortunately, no single cure for rheumatic fever has been discovered. Apparently after an attack develops, the sulfonamide drugs and penicillin are of little, if any, value.

The best treatment during an attack is complete rest, the use of the preparations known as salicylates, and the giving of a well-balanced diet.

Removal of the tonsils evidently is of no particular value in preventing recurrence of the condition.

The giving of sulfonamide drugs in the proper doses, which aid by staving off sore throat due to the hemolytic streptococci germ, may be of value in many instances. However, such treatment must always be carried out under the direction of a physician.

Little by little, medical science is piecing together the parts of the complex puzzle presented by rheumatic fever, but the basic clue to the behavior and treatment of this killer of youth still remains to be found. More study, more money, more research are needed to give us the means to conquer this No. 1 enemy of the nation's children.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. R.: What causes curvature of the spine? Is there a cure for it?

Answer: Curvature of the spine may be due to muscle weakness or to disease affecting the bones of the spine. In many instances, the cause cannot be determined.

The condition, as a rule, can be cured. Operative treatment is sometimes necessary.

Anniversary Marked By King's Daughters

Circle of Light of King's Daughters celebrated its twentieth anniversary recently with a luncheon at Ringer's Inn. The rooms were decorated in purple and white, King's Daughter's colors.

The program opened with group singing, and Miss Goldus Bolander using the same theme which she used at the first meeting in 1927 and also on the occasion of the 10th anniversary.

Mrs. Zelma Baker gave a history of the circle, and a saxaphone solo by Miss Mary Alice Linn, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Lucas, followed. Mrs. W. F. Miley, city union leader, gave a talk on the Maplecrest home, and remarks were given by several former members. A one-act playlet by Mrs. Mabel Ulsh and Mrs. Louise Fogle, followed.

Seated at the head of the table were Miss Cleo Finley, the first circle leader, and Mrs. Doris Murphy, present leader.

Legion Moves In On New York

Hear Political Overtones Amid Evidence of 4-Ring Circus.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—Baby alligators, hand-operated sirens, coconuts and bugle corps added evidence today that the 29th American Legion convention opening Thursday may combine many of the features of election night, Mardi Gras, a homecoming football game and a political convention.

The sirens (for noise) were brought by early arrivals from Chicago's Commonwealth Edison post and proved capable of causing a near traffic jam on Eighth avenue.

Political implications of the Legion gathering were underlined by the fact that, in addition to many high federal officials who will attend, the governors of many states will be on hand. Reservations have been made for the governors of Florida, New York, North Carolina, New Hampshire, Louisiana, New Jersey, Indiana, Vermont, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Arkansas, Nebraska, Oregon, South Carolina, Virginia and Minnesota.

While state caucuses tomorrow probably will open formal bidding for Legion officers, several avowed candidates for Griffith's post have been in the running for some time. Four of them, James F. O'Neil, Manchester, N. H., police chief; Perry Brown, Beaumont, Tex.; Benjamin C. Hilliard Jr., Denver, and Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, O., all held news conferences yesterday.

Meanwhile, lush trappings of Manhattan hotel lobbies are going into hiding, the lobby of the Hotel Pennsylvania, 142 by 75 feet, was the first to be stripped. An exception is the Governor Clinton hotel, whose manager, Edwa Buckley, somewhat awed oth hotel men by declaring:

"We're removing no furnit no lamps, no Gideon Bibles— anything."

"Why," one hotel man said aft hearing of Buckley's plans, Governor Clinton has those for men - eight horses outfit, a they're supposed to be hell wheels."

No Appeasement in Sight

POLITICIANS will be looking over the American Legion's resolutions adopted in this year's convention in New York for straws in the wind—and one of them probably will look like a whole bale.

Legion delegates, representing majority opinion throughout the country, are evidently in a mood to join whatever issues the Kremlin is disposed to join, up to and including U. S. troops sent to Greece. There is no appeasement in sight.

The Legion's retiring national commander, Paul H. Griffith, is on record in favor of sending troops to Greece—a significant resolution in view of the fact he had talked to President Truman a short time before.

Twice the Germans made the mistake of thinking the United States would rather suffer national disgrace than fight over a point of principle. But Russians are not being misled by evidence that appeasement is forthcoming in the United States. After two wars fought to discourage aggression as an instrument of national policy, the Legion convention delegates, if they adopt a resolution to that effect, will be voicing a national conviction.

No Dictatorship by Science

ONE of the things this country always has feared, with good reason, is strongarming by a military caste. It has done everything within reason—and a few things beyond reason—to keep its fighting men under the civilian thumb.

Another possibility of danger exists in the rising strength of the scientific caste—a possibility that was dramatized by the work of scientists in World War II and their importance as the principal custodians of knowledge about atomic fission, germ and chemical warfare, utilization of fuels, explosives and other war materials. It requires no imagination to see that even militarists these days look hopefully to scientists for guidance; that politicians have become secondary; that scientists have tremendous power for good or evil.

This is the background for President Truman's veto of a bill to establish a national science foundation, a move he himself had proposed. His reasons can be boiled down to this main objection: he disapproved of giving to a group of scientists powers that would put them above the White House and above congress, representing all the people. Critics charging that Mr. Truman doesn't have implicit confidence in scientists are exactly right. He doesn't. Neither do his constituents, who think of scientists as they think of doctors, manufacturers, labor unionists and the people who eat pie for breakfast—just one minority that shouldn't have unlimited power.

Mazuma in Pastel Shades

A bill to provide identifying colors for various denominations of paper currency will be introduced in congress next year, according to representative Edith Nourse Rogers. She says the plan would simplify handling money, and points out that the postoffice department long has used the idea for stamps.

The plan has merit. It would give validity to the challenge of the bettor who says, "Let me see the color of your money." The well-heeled gentleman could provide a rainbow effect by riffling a roll of bills, but he who is color blind would have to proceed with car. And when milady went shopping, she could pay for her burnt-orange cocktail gown with 50 frogskins to match.

The Disillusioned Mules

MEXICO farmers report their new American mules aren't satisfactory. The mules had been sent to replace oxen slaughtered in a campaign against hoof and mouth disease.

"The mules," says a Mexico City newspaper, "must be bathed every week with lukewarm water; their coats must be clipped and deloused periodically, and, to top it all, since the time they were small they have been used to eating oats and other foods of the type our farmers save for themselves for feast days." Some of the mules have been sent to rest camps because they haven't been able to get used to the climate.

American mules are excellent workers but in return they must be given the best treatment. In the mule you don't have a dull plodder but an alert, intelligent, capricious animal. When he is content there is no better worker; when he's off his feed, all the curses in the world won't budge him.

It's posible a mistake has been made in sending this specialized king of draft animal to a land where scrawny burros forage in the cactus and where most human beings are so hard put to it assuaging their own appetites their draft animals must look out for themselves.

Britain Follows Fascist Pattern

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Course Similar to Germany's in Pre-Hitler Era.

A FRIEND—now an American citizen, but before Hitler a high official in the Bruening government—tells me that Attlee's Socialists are going through the same evolution as that experienced in 1931-32 Germany. Bruening moved to a semi-dictatorship, but hesitated to risk a completely dictated economy. It remained for Hitler to take that risk in 1933, when he froze wages. Two years later, he froze people to their jobs and fixed profits. Attlee, my friend continues, has moved past Bruening and is short of the 1933 Hitler. Britain is on the "road to serfdom" under a Socialist regime.

No poor old capitalist government could get away with what is happening in England. Fierce charges of Fascism would be in the air, and strikes would paralyze the nation.

Pattern Is Similar

Nevertheless, despite Socialist denials, the things that are happening in England are what do happen in the early stages of Fascism. When the chains are fastened, it is hardly material whether they are painted red or blue or black. They limit the movements of the wearer in exactly the same way.

However, we should not expect a repetition in England of the fate of Germany in 1933. The character and traditions of the British people are not those of the Germans. But the disastrous incapaciay of the Labor regime is exactly what plagued Germany, Italy and France in the years after the first World War.

Shakespeare would have been more accurate if he had qualified what he said about the "sweet" uses of adversity. Some of the uses of adversity are sweet, but we have only to envision our own state of mind if we were denied as much as the British are now denied. Consider what it means when every family must get along with a standard-of-living reduction of a fifth or a quarter, or even more. And consider that this is accompanied by demands for more hours of work and more work per hour. And consider also that this denial is enforced by a group of self-styled idealists who bought votes by cosmic promises. Presumably, this denial is accomplished only because the people, two years ago, were voting their irritation and weariness inspired by the Conservatives under war conditions.

Dreaming 50 Years

Consider also the mental processes of the Socialists now in power. For half a century, Attlee and people of his mentality have been dreaming and preaching and writing about how much more the British people might have, if the government could take over the instruments of production and distribution. Socialism, to such people as Attlee, is a religion, an assurance of a happy way of life and a deliverance from all human bondage. To quote again from Somerset Maugham, the government could give the moon and sixpence.

After a lifetime of mental autointoxication, these people find themselves in power. They are, by the grace of the voters, the government of England. They sit where Pitt and Gladstone and Churchill once sat. Their stooges in the house of commons applaud their words. The machinery of a government with a vast and loyal civil service obeys their commands. Now, if ever, they must try their plans and put their promises into effect. Nationalization of banking and coal and steel and electricity can be accomplished by a mere vote in a parliament responsive to their orders. Can they turn their backs now on all they have lived for? Can they confess that all they have said over the years has been a patchwork of deception?

But the facts press in upon these rulers. The people are calling for food and shelter and some of the comforts of life. And if something is not done, power will be snatched away, perhaps forever. Faced by a dreadful dilemma, they do what most human beings do. They compromise, evade and make new promises. They put time limits on utopia.

Meanwhile, they turn to a capitalist neighbor for material help. And that neighbor, not because it believes in Socialism, but because it wants to stabilize the world, is willing to help. Its help must not be conditioned by a political demand that Socialism be abandoned. A better way is to condition that help on Britain's capacity to produce for iself. That condition will be an effective remedy for Socialism. Because Socialism cannot multiply; it can only subtract.

She Was Used

To an Un-Cover Charge

A professional strip-tease artist is under arrest in Mississippi, charged with directing the activity of a bandit gang.

This naturally comes as a shock to fans, who had been under the impression she had nothing to hide.

Police think she was the brains of the outfit and did not participate in the actual robberies. They would do well to investigate the possibility that it was merely that nobody recognized her with her clothes on.

She is described as a capable person and doubtless could have become as quick with a gun as she is with a zipper. But if she'd stuck to the straight and narrow runway, she'd be looking forward to a future behind the footlights instead of the bars.

Crime does not pay . . . at least not as well as disrobing. Still, one can understand how she couldn't see anything so very wrong in holding up banks, accustomed as she was to night-club prices.

The Simple Way of Life

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

I LIVE, during the summer, on the very worst road in the world. This road has been here a long time. It was here when Burgoyne was fighting the French and Indian war. Nobody has done anything to improve it since then.

The state of Massachusetts is supposed to supervise the road, but I have never seen the slightest evidence of anybody taking any interest in it except the few people who pay taxes. They get no return of any kind for their taxes unless they send their children to a little red schoolhouse which is no better today than it was when Jonathan Edwards lived in these parts.

Every spring they scrape the road, but after the big rains the loose earth around the sharp rocks is washed away and the sharp rocks protrude to cut automobile tires. When oxen went from Sandisfield to the Hudson along this road, there were no automobile tires. In August, a couple of men walk along it leisurely cutting the brush. They say that they cut it in August so that it will not grow again. Actually it does grow again.

Town Hall Abuzz

The other night my neighbors gathered in the town hall in New Boston for the first annual meeting of the Sandisfield Taxpayers association and we had a wonderful time. Major Elizur Yale Smith, whose family established the first wood-pulp mill in the United States in neighboring Lee, spoke on the greatness of Sandisfield in the old days, and we felt good. This town apparently used to be famous not only for its distilleries but also for the amazing capaicty of its early inhabitants to consume their product. Times have not changed.

One of our problems is to get rid of the little red schoolhouse and to build a big white schoolhouse. They say that the little red schoolhouse is obsolete; that the idea of a teacher teaching ungraded children is not according to the best methods, although the aforementioned little red schoolhouse once produced a lot of brainy men and women. Anyhow, we are soon to have one school for the entire township and it is to be modern. The children will be brought to school by a gorgeous modern bus and their parents will collect more for keeping them at school. It is all wonderful.

Our neighbors in Otis are working on a school, too. They are more modern and aggressive than we are and they have advanced to the stage or hiring an outside architect to give them advice. I have heard all kinds of rumors about what their school will cost, the stories running from $40,000 to $120,000. We, in Sandisfield, are more conservative. We are still in the talking stage and will never spend more than we can pay for.

Our veterans are wonderful boys. In other towns, veterans have a way of expecting something for nothing, but our boys know that in Sandisfield that does not happen. So when the town voted to buy a fire engine, the veterans undertook to build a firehouse for it and to man the machine. They are raising the money by running square dances in the town hall once a week. We produce marvelous square dancers in these parts.

The town is proud of its veterans and they will be prouder still when the fire engine actually puts out its first fire. It is amazing how few fires occur here, considering that the boys and girls all smoke cigarets, although the older folks prefer the safer habit of chewing tobacco. Nobody can burn down a barn by chewing tobacco. Anyhow, there are lots of houses in these parts that have been standing since around the 1750's—which is a long way off even here. In fact, if you believe all you hear, some of the current folks must have been around back in those days. Of course, there is no law requiring anybody to believe all he hears.

Well, there you are. This isn't a very exciting column for you or for me, but it is strictly American and I won't spoil it by odious comparisons with anybody who does not live in these parts.

South Africans Plan Cake for Elizabeth

JOHANNESBURG — A movement has been started here to supply the ingredients of Princess Elizabeth's wedding cake. The ingredients are more readily available here than anywhere in the empire. It has been suggested that the cake be baked here and flown to London for icing and decorating.

Meanwhile the mayor of Johannesburgh has endorsed a plan for an empire wide shilling subscription for a wedding present which is being taken up here.

Dreaming Way Through Crisis

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—Thus far, this country has gone through the world economic crisis like a nation in a dream—an opium dream of peace, plenty and pleasure. A single fact should be sufficient to arouse even the most torpid.

When Sir Wilfrid Eady and his colleagues of the British delegation made their presentation at the treasury last week, they warned the Americans across the table that without immediate aid, Britain would be forced to pull out of Germany. This was no trifling nonsense about being unable to pay the full British half share of German occupation costs. It was a despairing report of a despairing decision by a despairing British cabinet. And the decision was to get out of Germany bag and baggage, troops, administrators and mimeograph forms, if the price of staying there was to be starvation for the British people.

Such was the inward seriousness of the British crisis. When Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder heard of the cabinet's decision; even that highly unimaginative official quaked in his neat bankers' boots. And well he might quake.

The British withdrawal from Germany, fortunately only conditionally projected, and now put off, would have openly proclaimed the disastrous effects of the three vices of American policy—being too little, too late and too loud.

Grim Choice for U. S.

It would also have faced the American policy-makers, all unprepared as they are, with a grim choice. That choice would have been between doubling our own German occupation burden, in men as well as money, in order to take over the British zone; or simply surrendering Western Germany, and therefore the control of Europe, to the Soviet Union. It would, in short, have been completely catastrophic.

It must be understood, moreover, that nothing has really been solved by last week's simple act of releasing the British treasury from its obligation to pay out dollars for pounds. The exchange of letters between Secretary Snyder and Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton merely halted the run on the bank. After any run on a bank, however, the bank must somehow be restored to solvency if it is to continue in business.

The just-finishing Anglo-American crisis talks rather strikingly failed to restore the British bank to solvency. Two things have happened, one negative, one positive. On the negative side, no way seems yet to have been found to relax the loan agreement's trading clauses. That means the British cannot yet conserve their dwindling dollars by channeling their purchases to soft money areas. On the positive side, the remaining balance of the British loan—$400,000,000—has been frozen by our government. This is a vital fact. It is hardly apparent through the murky bureaucrats English of the Dalton-Snyder correspondence, yet sure to provoke the most bitter reaction in London.

Curiously enough, the state department representatives were responsible for freezing the loan balance. They argued that if the terms of the loan agreement were to be suspended, the rest of the loan should cease to be available until a final settlement. The freezing is of course only temporary, pending further discussion. It was done, furthermore, after the British had been permitted to draw down or earmark approximately $450,000,000 of the balance of the loan which was still outstanding when the Treasury talks began. But Secretary Snyder, who was on the whole willing to terminate convertibility without resort to freezing, seems to have been made wiser than the state department by the sudden shock of Sir Wilfrid Eady's news.

Await Outcome of Talks

For a final verdict, it is necessary to await the outcome of the resumed Anglo-American talks. These will begin again when Snyder goes to London next month. Meanwhile, three crucial facts are already causing the American policy-makers to toss and turn in their troubled bed.

First, something must still be done about the German problem. Some months ago, by one of those empty triumphs of haggling which delight our negotiators, we got the British to pay half the dollar bill for the merged Anglo-American zones. It did not matter that the money was ours, coming from our loan, or that the British plainly could not afford it. Now that the chickens have come home to roost, however, this triumph must be foregone. Any British cabinet in its senses, having to choose between feeding Germans and feeding their own people, will put their own people first. That is the present situation. It is still entirely possible that the cabinet, harried and rendered neurotic by their plight, will suddenly decide to abandon Germany entirely.

But if we move quickly and generously to adjust the dollar burden in Germany, the British can certainly be induced to continue their occupation. We will pay the bill in dollars. They will keep the men in the field. It will be a good bargain for us, and for them.

Second, and third, the balance of the loan will eventually have to be unfrozen, and despite Under Secretary of State Will Clayton's passionate attachment to free trade principles, the trading clauses of the loan agreement are going to have to be revised. Here again, the choice is almost certainly between making a sensible bargain with the British and seeing them do something extreme on their own.

Take it all in all, the time when we can no longer avoid facing the facts of life and dealing with them, is getting closer and closer. We have already heard about the bees and the flowers. Still more surprising information will shortly be imparted by our teacher, who is History.

Palm-Leaf Fans

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whatever happened to' the iron-hea baboon that started the foolish rumor ab palm-leaf fans, we hope it was horrible— lingering.

There used to be a day and age in this l of the freely-perspiring when a patriot all h tened up and in the mood for it could g himself a brace of palm-leaf fans and start air to circulating where it felt best.

Every porch had a handful of these aids the pursuit of happiness and if they weren't bona fide palm leaves from palm trees, were reasonable facsimiles or, at the wo cardboard nifties with the name of the villa leading undertaken or livery stable inscri thereon in bold letters, with suitable illus tions.

If a citizen got really toasty and had pla his cards right in the public relations racket could persuade someone else to fan him five minutes, in the royal manner of an Ind prince taking it easy on a litter carried by na bearers with knee-action at all points and dou carburetion for those so-important bursts speed in the clutches.

Palm-leaf fans were as integral a part of clutter of summer living as the glass tink that hung from porch ceilings, roll-up shades and weather-beaten copies of last S day's Sunday school lesson. Merchants relied them as heavily as the customers. It was ideal arrangement; the advertising messages fans were read and re-read a zillion times fanners paused to take stock of their conditi or pour themselves more lemonade.

There were fans in hymn-book racks for comfort of church-goers, in waiting rooms, parlors, hotel bedrooms, public conveyances a meeting halls. Well-turned-out ladies car collapsible fans when they walked abroad a fluttered them under the chins of perspir escorts in little flurries of coquetry. Then it ha pened—the iron headed baboon started rumor about fans.

He said it had been proved scientifically the energy required to wiggle a fan created mo heat on the part of the wiggler than could dissipated by the resulting breeze. Scien which hadn't even thought of the atom bo seemed to be unassailable even then. People qu fanning themselves. All the palm-leaf fans a the cardboard fans got burned up and the li collapsible fans were put away as keepsakes suckers to buy at antique sales in 1975.

Electric fans and air-conditioning bid for job of bringing comfort to hottened-up pa but they haven't done much more so far th put on scattered demonstrations of their abi to take the place of the hand fans they crow out of American life. What this country need a couple trainloads of old-fashioned fans also can be used for swatting flies, catch cigar ashes, writing grocery lists and notes the milkman. Something went out of Ameri life when those fans disappeared—somethi that should come back right now.

Betty Grable Reported Highest Paid Star --- Earning $208,000

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—Shapely Betty Grable, whose legs apparently attract more customers than her band-leading husband's horn, was the highest paid Hollywood star shining on a new list of big salaries issued by the treasury today.

The blond Miss Grable was paid $208,000 by 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. for the year 1945. Trumpet - blowing Harry James, her husband, received $111,666.67 from the same company to give the couple a total salary of $319,666.67 that year.

Their combined salary, however, was short of the $568,143.60 paid to Charles P. Skouras, president of Fox West Coast Agency Corp. and National Theaters Amusement Co. Skouras topped all on the treasury list.

Other Listings To Come

The treasury listed salaries and other compensation paid to individuals by corporations during the calendar year 1945 and corporate fiscal years ending in 1946. It was only a partial listing. Other salaries will be listed in about five months.

Miss Grable edged out Olivia DeHavilland, her nearest rival, by a scant $1,000 for top tonors. The next nearest star on the list was Fred MacMurray who got $203,525.66 from Paramount Pictures.

Miss Grable's salary didn't come up to the $310,726 collected in the previous year by Deanna Durbin. Miss Durbin was not on the treasury's latest list. Nor did Miss Grable's salary compare with $355,426 paid Leo McCarey, director of "Going My Way," by Paramount Pictures. For McCarey it was a considerable drop from the $1,113,035 which he received in the previous year.

The listing is no true index to wealth. The nation's richest families, such as the Rockefellers and the Du Ponts, are not listed since their incomes are mainly from investments. Henry Ford II, youthful president of the Ford Motor Co., was listed as being paid $140,004 by the company.

Publicity Required

The treasury is required by law to make public corporate salaries, commissions and bonuses of $75,000 or more annually. The list does no tinclude income from dividends, proprietorships, partnerships, rents or royalties.

It does not accurately reflect the money earned by many of the Hollywood stars who formed corporations to produce and act in their own pictures and get their earnings in the form of dividends. Some of these stars undoubtedly topped Miss Grable's Hollywood earnings, but were not listed.

There were more than 800 persons on the treasury's latest list. Six persons were paid $300,000 or more, and 30 received $200,000 or more.

Others of the big 10, in addition to Skouras and Miss Grable, were:

Charles H. Strub, executive vice president, Los Angeles Turf club, Ind., $541,412.77, of which salary was $12,000, the remainder bonus.

Thomas J. Watson, president, International Business Machines Corp., New York, $425,548.94.

F. E. Fowler, president, southern Comfort Corp., St. Louis, $376,616.92; Charles E. Wilson, president, General Motors Corp., $303,990.15.

G. R. Fink, president, Great Lakes Steel Corp. and National Steel Corp., $275,400. He received nearly $138,000 from each firm.

Theodore Seltzer, president, Bengue, Inc., Union City, N. J., $261,250.92.

$260,000 for Zanuck

Darryl S. Zanuck, vice president in charge of production, 20th Century-Fox, $260,000.

C. W. Deyo, chairman and president, F. W. Woolworth Co., $250,874.50.

All salary figures are gross. Under the tax laws of 1945, federal taxes took about $443,000 out of a $500,000 salary; about $348,985 on $400,000; $254,985 on $300,000, and $68,365 of taxes on $100,000.

Others who received $200,000 a year or more in 1945, or corporate fiscal years ending in 1946; included:

William J. Meinel, chairman and president, Heintz Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia $227,875.94.

Agriculture Secretary To Replace Hannegan

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — President Truman reportedly is looking today for a new secretary of agriculture to replace Clinton P. Anderson, who will become chairman of the Democratic national committee next month.

Anderson will succeed Robert E. Hannegan at a special meeting of the committee in September. The President has approved the choice of Anderson and it is understood that the secretary will retire from the cabinet to help campaign for President Truman's reelection.

The fact that Mr. Truman is giving up a cabinet officer on the eve of election year removes every doubt that he will seek reelection.

Liquor Bargains May Be Sold

Ohio Director Says Cut in Price of Slow-Moving Brands Planned.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O , Aug. 26—State liquor stores soon may offer bargain sales of between five and eight million dollars of slow-moving stocks that glut their shelves.

Dale Dunifon, state liquor director, at a news conference late yesterday disclosed plans to dispose of surplus brands were being worked out.

"Included in our surplus are a number of brands of good merchandise—just not popular," he said. "We probably will offer these first to Ohio consumers so they may take advantage of the loss we will have to take."

Embargo Modified

Dunifon disclosed that a seven-weeks-old embargo on purchases of new liquor had been modified with release of orders for $2,255,408 of scotch and other whiskies.

The embargo was ordered July 8 because of a reported unwieldy $42,000,000 inventory.

"Twelve consecutive months of steadily climbing liquor stocks finally ended three weeks ago as inventories dropped for the first time since July of last year, but not before an all-time peak of $45,000,000 had been hit," Dunifon said.

Unpaid Bills Drop

The liquor director said the department now has $7,000,000 in unpaid bills instead of the $10,770,000 announced when he ordered the embargo.

When the embargo was applied, Dunifon asserted that the liquor department's huge inventory resulted from a rush of purchases under the administration of former Gov. Frank J. Lausche and former director Robert M. Sohngen, now a supreme court judge.

Dunifon said the orders released yesterday obviously would halt the inventory decline temporarily. He declared that to continue a rigid ban might not be fair to the public or to "some distillers who have been fair with us.

New orders included 19 scotches, nine whiskies and two gins "with stocks which are, or soon will be, depleted," Dunifon said.

Chemists Predicts Farm Weeds Can Be Eliminated by 1950

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26 — By 1950, chemicals and other means will be developed to the point where farmers can completely eliminate weeds from their vegetable fields, a Cornell university scientist predicts.

"I realize that I'm sticking my neck out a long way in making that prediction," Dr. Robert P. Sweet told the Vegetable Growers Association of America yesterday, "but I'll stand upon it."

"The progress we have made in experimenting with weed killers at Cornell justifies the prediction.

"We have sprayed vegetables from pre-eminence to within a month of harvest, completely eliminating weeds and not impairing the crop."

Dr. Sweet said 2-4D was the "main killer" at present, but that others, including the flame thrower, were in the experimental stage and showed equal progress.

Ragweed chickweed and quack grass have resisted the "killers" so far, but their days are numbered, he declared.

Emphasizing the importance of the experiments Dr. Max E. Brunk, also of Cornell, told the growers that labor expenses contributed heavily to production costs in vegetable growing.

"Our only hope in cheaper foods lies in eleminating the weeds," he said.

Dr. Wilbur Gould of Ohio State university said the future marketing pattern of vegetable growing was toward the sale of packaged goods and away from fresh produce.

"By 1957," he predicted, "one third of the nation's vegetables will be sold packaged and frozen, a third canned and only one-third fresh."

160 OFFICE WORKERS SIGN WITH UNION

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 26—Some 160 office workers of the strike-bound North Electric Manufacturing Co. have now signed pledge cards to the United Auto Workers (CIO), it was reported today by Edward J. Duck, international representative of the union. This number, he said, is about 40 per cent of the office workers, (engineering and drafting workers included) who are eligible to membership. About [illegible] office workers attended the meeting of this group which was held at [illegible] p. m., Monday, in the Maccabee hall. They were addressed by Mr. Duck.

Now going into its seventh day, the plant has been closed down since about 2:30 p. m., last Wednesday, when a large number of the 463 production and maintenance workers walked out to force recognition of the union and secure a signed contract with raised wages. Pickets who have surrounded the gates of the plant since that time are continuing their duty on three eight-hour shifts daily. A small number of pickets are being maintained.

Meanwhile there has been no statement issued by plant officials.

Some 50 or 60 employes were permitted admittance to the plant Monday to remove personal effects and tool boxes.

STATE FAIR CROWDS EXPECTED TO RISE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26 — State fair officials today counted on the long overdue break in the heat wave to give an upward flip to attendance figures at Ohio's 93rd state exposition which are lagging behind last year's record marks.

Temperatures dropped from the scorching 90's to the low 80's here when cooling showers dissipated the sultry heat and gave the state an air conditioning.

Fair officials almost had abandoned hopes of equalling the record 1946 attendance of 351,995 after noting crowds of 26,053 the opening day and 65,914 Sunday.

Opening day a year ago attracted 33,455. The 1946 Sunday crowd was 71,399.

Official figures were not immediately available on yesterday's attendance but they too were believed below last year's.

Yesterday's showers were credited with warding off a series of fair grounds heat prostrations.

The weather had worried many livestock exhibitors because it left the animals panting and made a few ill. Marcus Charmer, a 1,000 pound hog which last year won grand champion honors for his owner, Walter Michael of Bucyrus, O., suffered a heat stroke and at first was not expected to live. However, the porker was packed in ice and showed signs of recovery after the rain had cooled the swine quarters.

A 1,000 pound hog, owned by George Rodeheffer of Wapakoneta, died Sunday, valued at $800, its carcass was sold to a renderer for $30.

Power Purchase from Private Utilities Advised for Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, O., Aug. 26—A recommendation that the city of Galion buy additional electric current from privately owned utilities will be made to city council at its meeting Sept. 2.

This decision was reached last night at a meeting of the mayor's special advisory committee on the electric power problem that has plagued the city for some time.

The committee's recommendation will propose that the city advertise for bids for purchase of from 1,500 to 3,000 KVA to supplement the output of the Galion municipal plant. Available power in Galion would be increased by approximately one-fourth by the purchase of the minimum amount proposed.

The committee will recommend negotiation of a five-year contract with the private utility. The plan also included construction of a substation to be built by the utility and paid for by the city.

Possible Sources

Lines of the Ohio Power Co. and the Ohio Public Service Co. are reported to be so situated that either could supply the city's needs.

The recommendation was in a motion, passed with one dissenting vote by the mayor's advisory committee of nine members who met in a three-hour session with city council to study the report and recommendations submitted by Burns and McDonnell, Kansas City engineering consultants. The consultants' report resulted from a study which the engineers made of the future power needs of the city. H. J. Rosson of Cleveland, resident engineer for the firm, was present at the meeting Tuesday to discuss the report.

Wants Long Range Program

Robert L. Moulton, acting city solicitor, who is a member of the citizens' committee to study the power needs of Galion, voted against the motion because he preferred to consider a long-range program for the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant as the first step.

A second motion was made by the committee, and was passed unanimously, that nothing should be done to impair the present municipal light and power plant, and that the plant should be maintained and operated the same as in the past.

The hook-up with outside power was declared by manufacturers present to be an emergency measure. While Burns and McDonnell estimated it would take 60 days for the hook-up, it was reported that representatives of power companes estimated the time to be 30 days or less in case of emergency.

There appeared to be a strong predominance of sentiment in the committee for outside power over the purchase of diesels because of the fact that there were no assurances given that oil can be secured for the diesels, and that delivery on the second diesel could not be expected for six months during which time the committee fears another power crisis might develop.

Long-Standing Problem

Galion's power problem has been critical for some time, and council has received mounting pressure from both labor and manufacturers to secure more power to meet expansion of industry.

The nine-man committee present with council members Tuesday night is composed of the following members: Ralph E. Boyd, Norman Schnelker and Kenneth M. Petri, representing manufacturers; Richard Ganshorn, Fred Saulter and William Kunkel, council members; H. W. Yunker, Russell Post and Robert L. Moulton, representing the citizens.

Post was elected chairman to preside over the meeting, Tuesday night.

Reich-Bound Refugee Ships Touch Gibraltar

By The Associated Press

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 26—Three British ships, carrying 4,400 Jews to Germany after they refused for weeks to disembark in France, docked at Gibraltar under the muzzles of machineguns today to take on coal and provisions.

The Jews, balked in their efforts to enter Palestine without immigration certificates and returned to France, were expected to remain here about two days before resuming the trip to Hamburg.

WORKSHOP

citizenship, with its implications of responsibility in the problem of world affairs.

The related subject, personality, he treated as lies in the school's responsibility for influencing behavior, stressing the importance of its fulfilling the task of building children into happy, useful and well adjusted people. He quoted from a study in a neighboring county which showed 19 per cent of the children not well adjusted. This he followed with the question, "Can such children become good citizens?"

Dr. Arnold, with a background of experience in the classroom and in socially related pupil guidance, declared that three basic ideas underlie dealings with children to promote wholesome personality. Growth of adequate personality takes place when certain basic needs of a child are met, he maintained. The child must feel that he "belongs". Bad behavior results from the child's feelings of guilt, hatred, resentment or fright. The child's feelings are very important to him, and adults, unable to understand his feelings, think that he ought to feel a certain way, condemning him for failing to adjust them to adult attitudes. "You cannot 'hang' good habits on a child," he said. "Good habits have to come through process of growth."

Emphasizes Need

Emphasizing a need of human personality for a permanent sense of security and "belonging," Dr. Curran illustrated with an account of one study of returned gunners which he aided during World War II. Differences between well adjusted men among 200 who were candidates for instructorships and the group of non-adjusted he listed as four. The well integrated men, he stated, felt accepted in their homes, they got along well with others, they knew what they wanted to do after the war was over, and consistently, they revealed a strong belief in the existance of God and felt strength from the exercise of prayer, whereas the opposite factors were present among the ill adjusted men.

From this he spoke of the roots of this country's democracy deeply planted in the concept of Christianity in which the dignity and basic rights of the individual are fundamental. This needs to be built into the personality of a child to develop good citizenship, he stressed. A child's natural fear of loss and of annihilation, which clings, though often modified, through life, needs to be met with such assurance as belief in the permanence of good and of God.

From his experience as executive psychologist in juvenile research, Dr. Newburger drew illustrations of his contention that the child fails to be a good citizen when he cannot gain achievement successfully. The child needs to know that he can be successful in some kind of effort. The delinquent child is often normal or near normal in intelligence, but he is an unsuccessful child in school he said. Social and economic, or emotional pressures on the child make him unadjusted. Individual attention to each child, counteracting the mass educational policy of schools today, is necessary to provide every child an opportunity to be successful, he maintained.

Theme of the session tonight will be "Current Practices in Reading and How To Improve Them," related to the general idea of citizenship and personality development.

GREECE CALLED SPARK TO IGNITE NEXT WAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) of the house foreign affairs committee declared today Greece may be "the powder keg that explodes into World War III."

The house member who helped draft the United Nations charter, told reporters the United States "cannot afford" to permit Russia to dominate Greece.

Such a Soviet conquest, Eaton said, would be the beginning of a drive on Turkey and other countries bordering the Mediterranean.

"From there, they could go on to an attempt to conquer the world," he asserted.

Eaton was a leading proponent of the administration's $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program designed to keep those two nations from falling prey to communist pressures.

"We are right down to bedrock in Greece," Eaton said today. "Both sides have served notice they will back their position to the limit. If neither backs down the consequences will be disastrous.

"The situation is as bad as primeval chaos could be. Nowhere is there a spirit of cooperation bringing the nations together to solve the common problems of all humanity."

Describing the policy of the United States as based on a genuine desire to maintain world peace, Eaton said Russia on the other hand is pressing a philosophy "utterly alien to our way of thinking."

"They would not mind seeing the world in rubble because then they could rule over the rubble," he added.

Although filling his observations with gloom, Eaton voiced hope that some formula can be found to stop the conflict short of a shooting war.

U. S. Efforts To Settle Greek Crisis Fall Apart

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Aug. 26—American efforts to mediate the deadlock in the Greek governmental crisis failed today when Themistokles Sophoulis, leader of the main branch of the Liberal party, insisted that he become premier.

Constantin Tsaldaris, premier-designate, had been trying for three days to form a new government. Sophoulis, 86, had been one of the main obstacles to success because of his steadfast refusal to enter a coalition cabinet to solve the current crisis.

U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh had conferred with Sophoulis during the morning.

NEWARK MINISTER HELD ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Aug. 26 — Rev. Fountain Earl Andrews, 39-year-old Newark Methodist minister, has been charged with bigamy and lodged in Newark city jail, Licking County Prosecutor Brandt Hervey disclosed yesterday.

The charge was sworn by Mrs. Mildred Andrews of Newark, mother of four children, he said.

The charge alleges Rev. Andrews married Joan C. Colvin, 26, in Kansas City, Kas., last Feb. 3, although he already was married to the Newark woman.

Miss Colvin is in Lima State hospital undergoing sanity tests, which followed five separate swindling indictments returned against the woman in Meigs county.

Rev. Andrews was arrested last week in Toledo but his arrest was not announced until today.

He was ordained in 1942.

RUSS REJECT PLEA MADE BY ALLIES

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 26—Soviet Russia has rejected a British-American request for consultation on the death sentence passed by a Bulgarian court on Nikola Petkov, Bulgarian Agrarian party leader, the foreign office announced today.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, said in a note delivered to the British charge d'affaires in Moscow that such a consultation would constitute "interference in internal Bulgarian affairs," a foreign office spokesman said.

This is the same contention advanced in Sofia last Friday by Soviet Lt. Gen. Alexander Cherepanov in rejecting a demand of the United States for a review of the death sentence.

Petrov, a top-ranking anti-Communist leader, was sentenced 10 days ago to be hanged on conviction of conspiring against the Communist-dominated Fatherland Front government. He has signed an appeal.

Beaches at Sydney, Australia, have recorded an annual total of 19 million visitors.

the war when restricted driving regulations were in effect.

Council also adopted an ordinance providing for salary increase to ward councilmen, councilmen-at-large and president of council. As of Jan. 1, 1948, the president of council will receive $35 a month and other councilmen $30, payable monthly. No dissenting vote was heard on the measure.

A public hearing was held on the application of Charles Patrick of 407 South Main street, an antique dealer, to erect a 26 by 46 foot concrete block building to be used as an antique shop on his premises. His property is located at the southwest corner of South Main and Hill streets.

Gayle Owens, owner of an apartment building to the south, and two other adjacent property owners appeared to protest the erection of the building declaring they believed a depreciation of their property valuation would result if the application were granted.

The application was denied by a vote of council, five to three.

A public hearing was also held on the adoption of an ordinance that would change the northern half of two lots on the Eden Park addition from residential to commercial district. No one appeared to protest adoption and the ordinance was unanimously passed.

A delegation appeared to seek repair work done on an alley extending east and west from Oak street to North Main street. The matter was referred to the city engineer for investigation.

Ordinances adopted included one authorizing the Marion Water Co. to install a water main on Bennett street west from Clinton street to Huron street connecting with the West Center street main. The work entails the laying of 2,300 feet of eight inch pipe. Fire hydrants will not be installed, according to the ordinance.

Claim Settled

The city solicitor was authorized to settle and pay a claim of $34.06 to Orrie A. Hill for damages incurred when a city truck backed into his car on Chelsea avenue.

A report was given council by the lighting committee comprising Councilmen Carl Rorick, Clarence Sanden and Malcolm Severens. The report indicated that instances of inoperative street lights had been investigated and taken care of. Council called for public cooperation in the reporting of any streetlights broken or otherwise inoperative, pointing out that service may quickly be restored if the city officials are promptly notified.

Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher reported that the new city fire truck was enroute to Marion from Elmira, N. Y. The apparatus is a 750 gallon capacity pumper, expected to arrive in the city today by rail.

A discussion on the possibilities of getting the railroads to let up on the heavy use of the horns on the diesel locomotives hauling trains through Marion was prompted by Councilman Carl Rorick who stated a number of residents in his neighborhood had complained about the horns.

The report on the hardness of city water during the period ending Aug. 22 showed a high of 7.9 and a low of 7.0 grains.

Annual inspection of the fire department will take place at that time.

SERVICE CLUB HEARS HARDING GRID COACH

Howison Speaks to Lions on Sports Training Program.

William A. Howison, head football coach at Harding High school, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions club at Hotel Harding Monday.

He said the entire school administration is cooperating to the fullest extent in the training program and improvements for the football team and state that they are contining the general school athletic program started last year and will continue it indefinitely.

The program provides for supervised training of boys from the fifth grade up by three assistant and three junior high school coaches. The goal is to have the training started so that when the boys reach high school they will have the training background and will be able to step into the older school competition easier.

Mr. Howison said about 60 boys are in training this year and with cooperation of all concerned he fully expects the team to win games and go "up the ladder" in the league. New equipment has already been purchased, including new uniforms.

Guests in addition to Mr. Howison included Dale Rish of Long Island, N. Y., Dr. Phillip Smith of Ann Arbor, Mich., Thomas Sonnanstine of near Marion.

GEORGIA MINISTER HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Police Say He Gave Poison to Man to "Test His Faith."

By The Associated Press

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Aug. 26—Rev. Gordon Miller read his Bible and quoted from St. Mark to pass the time before his hearing today on a murder warrant, served after one of his flock drank poison "to prove his faith" and died.

"They shall take up serpents," the minister read to Sheriff A. H. Glenn last night, "and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them."

Sheriff Glenn said Reverend Miller was arrested at the graveside of 33-year-old Ernest Davis, who died Saturday. And that the preacher later observed to him, "the poison killed Davis—he must not have had enough faith."

Dr. W. U. Hyden of Trion attributed Davis' death to 'strychnine and other poisoning" and added "he never had a chance," the sheriff said.

The charge against Miller, who described himself as a minister for the "Free Church of God," was recommended by Assistant Solicitor General T. L. Esty, Sheriff Glenn said, and the warrant was sworn out by Deputy Sheriff A. L. Martin.

"Fed Up with U. S.," Says War Bride Involved in Cab Robbery

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 26—A blonde and dejected British war bride, her small family scattered, her money gone and her freedom periled by a police charge of robbery, today confessed herself "thoroughly disillusioned about this whole country."

"I hope the police or the judge will sympathize with me and help me return home," added Mrs. Pearl Baker, 25, who left her native England as a happy young wife and mother 16 months ago.

Detective Joseph Brown said Mrs. Baker signed a statement admitting that she aided an unidentified woman in a toy gun holdup of a taxi cab driver that netted $12.

"Stole for Son"

He quoted her as saying she took part in the robbery of Sidney Wheatley, 35, because her husband had left her and she was desperate for money to keep her oldest of two small children in a boarding home.

A warrant will be asked against her Wednesday, the officer said.

Detective Brown said Mrs. Baker told the following story:

She was married in Worcester, England, in 1943, to Paul Baker of Bergholz, O., an American soldier with an ordnance detachment. Their son, Paul Jr., was born in England.

Mrs. Baker joined her husband in the United States after his discharge, but according to the detective, they separated before the birth of her daughter five months ago.

Gave Child Away

She gave the youngest child away for adoption and brought the older boy to Detroit, where she placed him in a boarding home.

"I went to work and with the help of the Red Cross was able to pay the board bill for a while," the detective quoted her. "While I was living at the Y. W. C. A., I met a woman who suggested we use her toy pistol and stage a holdup to get some money.

"I guess I'm a little hazy about what happened then. We got in a cab and were going out to see Paul Jr., my baby in the boarding home, and she drew a pistol and held up the cab driver.

"That is all there is to it. I am thoroughly disillusioned about this whole country. I've been to the British consul and he tells me it will be 18 months before he can get me back to England. He told he there are a lot of other disillusioned war brides like me.

"I hope things work out so I can go home to my mother and father and two brothers."

CUBS TRIP LIMA, 5-3 TO GAIN ONE GAME AS ZANESVILLE LOSES

Team Returns To Lincoln Park Tonight for 7-Day Home Stand

The Marion Cubs with only a slim mathematical chance of overtaking the leading Zanesville Dodgers in the Ohio State league pennant race return to Lincoln park tonight to start a home stand lasting seven days.

They defeated Lima, 5-3, last night while Newark was trimming Zanesville, 2-1.

The Springfield Giants will furnish the opposition tonight and tomorrow. The Dayton Indians will arrive Thursday night for four games ending Saturday night and including a doubleheader Friday. The Lima Terriers are billed for two games Sunday and a holiday game Monday night. The Cubs will travel to Lima for a game Monday afternoon.

15 At Home, 16 Abroad

Of the 31 games remaining on the Cub schedule, 15 are to be played at Lincoln park and 16 on foreign fields. The leading Zanesville Dodgers have 28 games left. Should the Dodgers break even on their remaining 28 games the Cubs would have to take 25 of the remaining 31 to pass the leaders and cop the flag.

Marion wiped out a first inning 3-0 lead of the Lima Terriers last night to win 5-3, in a makeup game postponed from earlier in the month.

The Terriers had taken a 3-0 lead in the opening frame when Carl Raucher walked, went to second as John Guttendorf was safe when Smith booted his sacrifice and scored on Jack Maisch's seventh homer of the year over the left field wall.

Witowski Holds Lima

This ended the scoring for Lima as bespectacled Ed Witowski hurled fine ball the rest of the game.

The Cubs got two back in the second when Shuford homered over the right center field fence after Maxhimer singled.

The games was tied at 3-3 in the sixth on a double by Burbrink who came home with two away when Slater muffed Nelson's roller.

Marion made it 4-3 in the seventh. Witowski singled and went

CLEVELAND OPENS FIGHT FOR FOURTH PLACE WITH PHILLY

Begins Series with Athletics Tonight; Red Sox Nipped, 10 to 8.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26 — Winner in nine of their last 12 games, the Cleveland Indians open a fight for fourth place tonight with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Cleveland is a half game behind the Athletics, who trail the third-place Detroit Tigers by one contest.

Don Black, with a record of 10 victories and nine losses, was selected for mound duty for the Indians, opposing Phil Marchildon.

The Tribe blasted 16 hits yesterday to come from behind three times and upset the Boston Red Sox, 10-8.

The Indians took the game in the eigth when Lefty Edgar Smith, with the bases loaded, walked Joe Gordon and Ken Keltner in succession to force home the tying and winning runs. Smith hurled only one and one third innings to get the loss.

Boudreau, who drove in two runs, started the Tribe on its way in the inning when he doubled with two out. Les Fleming walked, Keltner looped a single into left and Boudreau held third, setting the stage for Gordon.

A third run came home before the inning was over when relief hurler Earl Johnson, called in after the second walk, passed Klieman, forcing in Keltner.

Newark Dedicates New Park Tonight

The Newark Browns of the Ohio State league will move into a home of their own tonight when they dedicate Arnold field, a new park built by the club owners.

Ever since the Browns entered the Ohio State League in 1944 they have played in a park adjoining the football stadium belonging to the school board.

George M. Trautman, head of the minor leagues, will be the principal guest at the dedication ceremonies preceding the game with the Richmond Roses. Frank M. Colley, president of the Ohio State league is also to appear on the program along with several local dignitaries.

After the game baseball club owners and writers of the league will be guests of the club of a party.

2 Injuries Already Plague St. Mary Football Squad

Two injuries blight the St. Mary athletic picture with their opening football game only two weeks and three days away.

Joe Maniaci is probably the most serious Irish casualty since practice started. The All-Mid-State league guard suffered a shoulder injury, which may hold him out some time.

Dick Werley, who will be called on at tackle and for place kicking, sustained a hand injury which will keep him from contact work for a few days.

With these exceptions, the situation is normal with Coach Gene Fetter having a number of players back from last year and the usual new prospects.

4 Backs Return

Four regular backs are back from last year. Bob Stuber and Ed Murphy are filling halfback spots, Dick Schuler is again at quarter, and John Baldauf is returning at fullback. Walter Anderson was the only regular back lost through graduation.

Coach Fetter also has several boys in line for backfield duty, chief among them being the two Bob Cusicks at the halves, Nick Maniaci at quarter, and Bill Merchant at full. Two other undergrads, Dick Cooper and Dick Jenner are also candidates.

The line situation finds the team strong at center and ends. The guard and tackle set-up does not have necessary depth at present.

Regular Center Back

Dan Smith, regular center last year, is back and a freshman, Bill Wagner is showing promise at the post. Kevin Krigbaum, letterman, has been working at one of the guard spots, while Werley is the only tackle with experience.

Four hopefuls, Jim Moloney, Tom Wagner, Ed Moloney, and Dick Drake, make the end situation look bright, Wagner and Jim Moloney are lettermen.

The team is concentrating on the T formation this year and practices have been devoted to limbering up for the real thing.

This year insurance, offered by the Ohio State Athletic association, will be carried on all team members. It will be financed by the school and pays a maximum of $300 for injury, costing $2.25 per man for football and $1.25 extra for coverage in all sports.

GOLF MEET PLAYERS NARROWED TO FOUR

Play last week narrowed the number of golfers still in the running for the Country club championship to four.

Elimination of Sherman Borland from the matches by L. E. Oberlander assured the club of having a new champion this season. Last year's winner was very much off his game, while Oberlander stayed steady all the way to win six up and five up.

Herb Petrich found the way to the semi-finals a bit rugged as his opponent Maurice Cornell pushed him most of the way, but had a wild streak on the last five holes. Despite this Cornell finished with 78, while Petrich posted a 76.

R. C. Owens also weathered a stormy journey to move up. C. W. Line took him to the 19th hole with a gross 75. Line had Owens two down on the fifteenth, then on the sixteenth Owens evened the count and on the eighteenth both golfers got a par four, Owens getting the match.

Barney Buettin manipulated a long putt on the 18th green to down William Freck one up. Medals for both golfers were 80 and the match was give and take all the way.

Semi-finals will put Oberlander against Petrich and Owens against Buettin.

The second flight of the Championship matches find Robert Cripps, E. S. Norris, Bud Burke, Pete Weber, Dr. W. A. Dennis, George Irwin, John Dowler, and Paul Schwemley still in the running.

BUCKY WALTERS IS WITHIN THREE GAMES OF THE 200 CIRCLE

Whips Phillies, 5-3, for Win No. 197; To Have "Night" Sept. 9.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26 — William Henry (Bucky) Walters, the Cincinnati Reds' 37-year-old righthander who started his major league career as a third baseman, today was within three mound victories of membership in a select circle — the big time's 200-game winners.

Although he needed relief from Harry Gumbert in the eighth inning, Walters notched triumph No. 197 here last night at the Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phils, 5-3, to take the odd game of a three-contest engagement.

It was the seventh win of the year for the one-time kingpin of the Cincinnati hurling staff. He has lost six.

When he joined the Philadelphia Phils as an infielder in 1934, the late Jimmy Wilson converted Bucky into a pitcher.

Wilson later was a Redleg coach when Walters was acquired by the Queen City club for the 1938 season. The next season, he won 27 and lost 11, sparked the Reds to their first pennant in 20 years, and copped the National league's most valuable player award. The next year he won 22 and dropped 10 to pace the Reds to another flag —and the world championship.

Cincinnati fans have designated Sept. 9 as "Bucky Walters Appreciation Night."

Cincinnati won last night's game in the first two innings, scoring a run in the first on a hit, walk, force out and infield fly, and counting four times in the second.

HIGH-SCORING GAMES MARK SOFTBALL BILL

High-scoring games featured play in softball leagues last night. Pollak Steel put on a six run third inning to take over the lead and went ahead to defeat Osgood, 9 to 5.

McMillen Feeds put over two big innings to account for their entire output and overcome a big seven-run first frame to whip Quaker Oats, 11 to 8. J. Christensen homered for the losers.

A five-run rally in the fifth by St. Mary No. 1 fell short and they lost to Epworth, 11-9.

"Night Owl" Munger Take Game for Cards but Lea Stays Fixed as Bums Wi

St. Louis Whips Boston, 5-2 Dodgers Edge Pirates, 11-1

By The Associated Press

If George (Red) Munger, unpredictable St. Louis righthan could pitch as well in the daytime as he does at night, the Cardi
today would be leading the National league instead of trailing
Brooklyn Dodgers by six games.

Munger boasts a season record of 11 victories and four defe and has been almost unbeatable under the lights. In 10 starts at night, the fast baller has won nine and lost only one. In his only after-dark defeat, his team was shut out.

In sharp contrast, Reds' dropped three games in five decisions and failed to go the route in nine of 11 daytime starts.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Redbirds says "I don't know whether it's a mental hazard with him or not. But George seems to feel he is at his best under the lights. He says his stuff does not break as well in the daytime. Maybe he's right. The record certainly bears him out."

Munger gained his ninth night game victory last night when he pitched a five-hitter as the Cards defeated the Braves in Boston, 5-2, before 33,129 fans.

The Cards failed to gain ground on the Dodgers, who won a free-hitting game from the Pittsburgh Pirates at Ebbets' Field, 11-10.

The Dodgers clubbed Kirby Higbe and Rip Sewell for seven runs in the second inning, held an 11-5 lead after six innings, then were forced to stave off a desperate Buc rally in the ninth. Ace reliever Hugh Casey disposed of sluggers Ralph Kiner and Ha
Greenberg with the potential

Double Main Event Set In Thursday's Mat Bouts

Benny Trudell of Windsor, Ontario, and Rufus Jones will tangle in the first of two main bouts at the Armory Thursday. Trudell was disqualified in match last week here for—of all things—over-roughness. Jones is also considered a very rough wrestler and fans who like their rasslin' rough should get plenty of entertainment when Jones and Trudell tangle.

The other feature of the show brings Billy Rayburn to the mat with Silent Rattan. Rayburn who comes from Atlanta, Ga., is the junior heavyweight champion but the match here is not a title match. Rattan hails from Kansas City.

A 10 minute preliminary between local youngsters will open the show at 8:30.

GOLFERS REMINDED OF MEET DEADLINE

Entrants in the Marion county golf tournament were reminded today that qualifying rounds must be completed by Sept. 2 so that pairings may be made in the four flights which will compete for a large array of prizes including the championship cup and The Marion Star trophy.

Don Prueninger, chairman of the committee from the Y's Men's Service Club, sponsors of the annual meet to be played starting next Tuesday over the Mar-O-Del course, reported entries coming in fast. All five county golfers having one of three legs on The Marion Star trophy will be among those on hand Tuesday morning, he said.

The tournament committee plans on having four flights of 16 entries to a flight. Golfers will be paired as evenly as possible to balance competiton. In addition to the championship flight there will be the 80, 90 and 100 player flights with prizes being awarded in each. Prizes are on display at Anson Pickerel's.

Last minute entries may be made either at the Marion Country club or at the Mar-O-Del course, Prueninger said.

SOME STOCKS MAKE WEAK RECOVERY TRY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—Selected stocks made a feeble stab at recovery in today's market while many leaders extended their retreat on a moderate basis.

Liquidation inclined to slacken after a fairly active start but dealings slowed appreciably. Declines of fractions to a point or so were in the majority near the fourth hour.

Gar Wood pushed up in the wake of a new financing arrangement. A pleasing income statement propped N. Y. Central. Occasional resistance was exhibited by Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Western Union, Pacific Telephone, American Water Works, Johns-Manville, American Can and Nickel Plate preferred.

In arrears at intervals were U.S. Steel, Goodrich, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Hershey Chocolate (off more than 3 following its recent climb), Electric Power and Light, American Woolen, Publicker, Addressograph (despite the first extra disbursement in several years) and Kroger Co.

to second on a sacrifice by Hollingshead. Smith singled sharply to right and when Raucher bobbled the ball, Witowski scored.

The final run in the ninth came on an error by Pinciotti on Forbes' grounder, bunt by Witowski and infield single by Hollingshead on which Daversa muffed the throw to first with Forbes coming in on the error.

Lima loaded the bases in both the third and fourth frames but failed to score.

The Newark Browns won a 2-1 victory over the longtime Ohio State league-leading Zanesville Dodgers last night.

Carroll Yerkes gave Zanesville only six singles and walked three. The Browns won in the seventh on successive doubles by Howard Palmer and Charley Hopkins and a squeeze bunt by John Oldani.

A snafu in the assignment of the circuit's umpires threatened the game at Lima temporarily. Five umpires showed up for the game at Newark but none at Lima.

Jack Norris, umpire-in-chief who lives at Lima, filled the breach although he had been released only yesterday from a hospital.

Norris drafted two players to assist him—Burt Flammini of the Marion club and Dick Strahs of Lima.

Line score:

Newark	000 000 20x—2	7	4

Programs on the Air

The disgrace suffered by a man who became a publican, or tax collector for the Romans 2,000 years ago and how he redeemed himself by following the Master is dramatized with force and simplicity in "The Calling of Matthew," the drama to be heard during the ABC broadcast of The Greatest Story Ever Told over ABC on Sunday, Aug. 31, at 6:30 p. m.

Sunday's dramatization is based on the quotation from Mark 2:17 in which The Master, reprimanded for dining with publicans and sinners, replies: "They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick; I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"HOW wonderful!" I said, and was sincere in my rejoicing that Mary was asleep.

But I was also glad that her slumber, and the opportunity it gave for Katharine to go over to her own apartment and telephone Dr. Twitchell, would give me a chance to bring Dicky up to date upon what Mary had told me, and Katharine's comments.

"I'll be back as soon as I possibly can," Katharine said, "and I don't believe I would go in there. I put a little bell close to her hand, so if she wakens she will know that 'Kilroy was here,' and will sound the bell to summon us. If that happens, tell her that as she was asleep, I thought I would run over to my own apartment to check upon some clothing I want, but will be back directly."

"I'll do that," I told her, and she walked toward the door, then turned and came back again.

"Your voice technique in that cussing was marvelous," she told Dicky. "You kept it muted. Now I know Modge is dying to tell you some more things you should know, but don't either of you raise your voices much above a whisper."

"We won't," I promised, and then she was gone, and I plunged into the saga of the dilemma which confronted Mary, and Katharine's sage judgment about it.

Dicky Grave

Dicky's face was very grave when I finished.

"What do you think?" he queried. "Is Mary very much upset over the delay in their plans?"

"I do not think so," I returned "I think Noel is the one who is anxious for her to have a child."

"He would be," my husband said cynically, and I remember, how, despite his own longing for a child, he had been opposed to my risking the danger involved for either myself or the child.

"Subconsciously," I'll bet," he went on, "that Mary's darling spouse is counting on her having to give up her career and stay home to darn his socks and diaper the baby."

"No, I dont think' he goes that far." I said. "But I think he is willing to take chances on her having to give up the stage, chances which I do not think Mary is really willing to take, although just now she thinks she is, because of her love for Noel."

"The darling little nit-wit!" he exclaimed. "Doesn't she realize that Noel's love for her holds a lot of pride in her career, even though he has acted like a Gadarene swine at times in his jealousy of her varous leading men?

"Her one best bet to hold Noel," he went on, "is to get back her place at the top of the dramatic plum tree. After that she can have twins or triplets if she wants them.

"I know Mary," he finished. "I don't say she's right, or that her opinion is sound, but she's a trouper, first of all, and you'll see that while she'll make a wonderful mother, she won't sacrifice her ca-re-e-ah to the cheeld!"

I laughed at his nonsense and nodded assent to his dictum.

Then he looked at me shrewdly.

"But I imagine all this is beside the point," he said. "Why is Katharine telephoning Dr. Twitchell?"

"Because she wants to see him before Mary does," I answered, "We both know that in all probability Mary will ask Katharine's advice about her problem. If she does, Katharine means to dodge the issue and refer her to Dr. Twitchell."

"Counting on Dr. Twitchell to say what, after Katrina has primed him?"

"To say that Mary should delay planning motherhood until she has done three things regained her full physical and mental strength, made a success—or a failure—of her stage comeback, and found out whether Noel's abstention from his royal rages is permanent."

"Good God!" Dicky exploded. "The old doc isn't going to discuss that last with her, is he?"

"Not in so many words," I said. "But I imagine he and Katrina will concoct something between them that will do the trick."

The door opened and Katharine came in.

"Dr. Twitchell will be here at five on the dot. Listen! Was I lucky in timing! There's Mary's bell now."
